

Invitation

The Place of Kindness

Tuesday 12 December 2017 | 9:30am – 3:15pm

The Lighthouse, 11 Mitchell Lane, Glasgow G1 3NU

Aim

We know kindness matters. It protects people from loneliness and social isolation and builds more resilient, empowered communities. But building a kinder Scotland is harder than it might first appear!

The Carnegie UK Trust is delighted to be hosting this free event to share powerful examples of where kindness and everyday relationships can affect change and support the wellbeing of individuals and communities. We would love you to join us! We want to share our experiences and learning with you, and hear your experiences about what we can all do to encourage kindness.

To confirm your attendance, please email Lauren Coutts
laurenc@carnegieuk.org

The Place of Kindness

Tuesday 12 December 2017 | 9:30am – 3:15pm

The Lighthouse, 11 Mitchell Lane, Glasgow G1 3NU

Chair

Jennifer Wallace, Head of Policy, Carnegie UK Trust

Confirmed Speakers

Elma Murray, Chief Executive, North Ayrshire Council

Fiona Garven, Chief Executive, Scottish Community Development Centre

Gerry McLaughlin, Chief Executive, NHS Health Scotland

Dr Jim McCormick, Associate Director Scotland, Joseph Rowntree Foundation

Zoe Ferguson, Carnegie Associate

Workshops

Workshop 1

Welcoming places, informal opportunities and values of kindness: Injecting kindness into your work and everyday life.

Workshop 2

Developing a network of kindness: How can we encourage the normalisation of kindness as a concept across Scotland?

